

Week Gone/Week Ahead - 15th November 2019 Centre Academy London

Dear Parents/Carers/Students and Staff

We did manage some quieter days this week following all the planned activities of the past couple of weeks. Our only trip was our HSD Theatre Studies group attending a performance of Touching the Void at the Duke of York Theatre yesterday evening.

Next Friday afternoon, Streetwise will be coming in to do a performance for our Middle School students. This is our next session in travel training support and follows on from the presentation from Transport for London last week. We know that this will be a helpful – and fun – session for them.

As I mentioned in last week's newsletter, our mock exams are also due to start soon. These will run from 25th November to 6th December.

Upcoming Dates

Friday 13th December 2019:
Last Day of Term

Monday 6th January 2020:

Tuesday 7th January 2020:
Start of Term

Charity Raffle Donations

The Hammersmith and High School Foundation students are working on a project for the end of the term.

In addition to the usual end of term non-uniform day, they are going to hold a raffle. We already have received some donations – Playstation Game codes, board games and art materials – and would very much appreciate some more. If you have unwanted gifts or other new items your families would be prepared to give us.

Three teams of students are pitching their chosen charities as potential recipients of the money that is raised and students and their families will be able to vote to select the winner. There will more information about this next week.

I would like to wish everyone an enjoyable weekend. Stay warm and dry, and I will see everyone back on Monday!

Miss Maddison

The house with the biggest point total this week is:

Congratulations to them for winning and well done to all students for their hard work over the week.
